

2024 Inspire Grant Application Guidelines.

Inclusive Education.

Education is one of the most powerful ways to create positive change and lasting impact. It's an important predictor of future employment, welfare and health prospects – improving a person's ability to contribute socially and economically in the community.

However, equal opportunities and quality outcomes are not available for all children and young people, especially those experiencing disadvantage.

The Inspire Grant was created to uplift the education outcomes of children and young people (0–24 years) facing the greatest barriers to reaching their potential.

The grant awards up to $150,000 over three years to support innovative approaches to education access, participation, learning, and transition to further study or employment.

Key impact areas.

Capacity building	Supports parent/carer engagement in their child's learning. Improves teaching and learning practice, addresses learning gaps, builds school capacity, supports educators, knowledge sharing, resource and practice development.
